PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I love a good puzzle, it's why I became a developer in the first place. I've met the unique challenges of working at a startup and delivered on tight timelines for clients in various industries at a full-service ad agency. I've impacted these workplaces by chasing curiosity, staying up to date on the latest technology, and delivering product-focused, user-centric, and accessible results.

WORK HISTORY

Web Developer - January 2023 - Present

116 & West

- Manage the building and launching of websites for clients in various industries, from tourism to nonprofits.
- Write process documents and train clients on WordPress CMS for maximum autonomy.
- Implement Adobe XD designs from designer for client projects faithfully and precisely onto their sites following best practices for accessibility, UX, and clean code.
- Troubleshoot technical problems that were outside the scope of expertise found at a marketing agency including: DNS errors, email configuration, and restructuring development processes.

Client Side Engineer - April 2022 - January 2023

Chainstarters

- Devised and fine-tuned UI/UX designs with Figma; implemented the client-side logic, built UI for complex dashboards, and integrated 3rd party APIs using React, GraphQL and Apollo.
- Collaborated with other client-side engineers using git workflow. Communicated revisions needed and took feedback from team positively.
- Ensured routine quality assurance for user experience and conducted code reviews for codebase maintenance, with a focus on high-quality React code.
